

THE WILD MUSTANG.

Settlers Were Compelled to Take Active Measures for Self Protection—Exhaustive Drives and Desperate Battles—How the Corral Was Made.

The southern portion of the great San Joaquin valley was overrun at the early days by a species of wild horse known as the mustang, or Mexican wild horse. They were to be seen in droves, not infrequently numbering several hundred each. They were too small, "weedy," and generally worthless for the most part to be of any value to the settler. On the contrary, they existed in such numbers as to constitute an annoyance and injury to the settlers engaged in agriculture. In a single night a band of wild horses would sweep down upon the crops which had taken months of hard labor to produce. The pioneers had ample cause to wage war upon these animals. They were undoubtedly a pest and source of danger much to be dreaded. Moreover, whenever a band of wild horses came down into the settlements, they would have away with them the domestic horses, leaving the settlers helpless.

These depredations were so frequent that, as a matter of self protection, the pioneer farmers and stockmen of these valleys were compelled to take active measures. They would maintain large hunting parties, or "drives," in order the better and more effectively to exterminate these animals.

The early methods used in this country in hunting the wild horse were peculiar. When a hunt had been determined upon and a favorable time selected, the hunters would erect two lines of fence, stating them about four feet apart and continuing parallel for some distance, then diverging until the terminals were several hundred yards apart. These fences were strong and high enough at the apex of the triangle to securely restrain the wild horses from breaking them down when crowded into the enclosure. The fence completed, the hunters, all well mounted, would start out to locate a band of the troublesome mustangs. When the objects of their search were sighted, the hunters grouped together, and the order of the "drive" was decided upon. One of the party started out on the trail of the band of wild horses, close enough to keep them constantly moving. This did not require as much exertion as might be supposed, as the wild animals would deaden at full speed, but would seldom continue any great distance in a straight line, usually turning and circling so that the "driver" could, by "cutting the angles," keep the band moving forward until they were crowded into the corral. In two hours or so the first "driver" would be relieved by a fresh man and horse, the whole party thus taking turns at keeping the wild horses on the move. The main object was to so fatigue the game as to wear out the animals, rendering them more susceptible to capture.

Thus hunt after hunt the wild horses would have a tedious pursuit hanging on their trail. Then when they would, the solitary horseman ever followed them during their capture-compulsed to stop, brought them to rest, as the "drives" were made during the fall of the moon. On the second day the drivers would be kept on duty for short intervals, so that they might pass the now packed wild animals. All of the pursuers would now assemble, and one after another would enter the corral, until the whole would have them running in a circle, the pursuers taking stations at regular distances. Then began the final "roundup." One man would dash after the band and chase them to his nearest companion in that direction, when that man would drive the band as far as possible to the next, and so on around the circle, each driver having a shorter and still shorter distance to ride, until the band had completed the entire circle. Steadily the circles were lessened, and the horses were worked toward the corral, until between the outer lines of the corral.

If there were any choice animals in the band and any one desired to capture them, this would be his opportunity. It was the most interesting period of the drive. The striking, kicking, rearing, snorting, snorting and biting of the wild horse when first lassoed are described by those who have witnessed such scenes as most exciting. After one lasso had been successfully cast a second would be thrown about the neck of the animal, and the lasso was then drawn in opposite directions, holding the struggling captive securely between its captors. By this means it would be finally forced into submission.

This work completed, the band would be rapidly forced into the enclosure, the drivers closing up the rear and urging the warlike animals into the corral until they were crowded compactly together, with no hope of escape except through the narrow lane, where certain death awaited them. Men armed with strong spears stood on each side of this narrow opening, and as the animals were crowded through it received its coup de grace.

The conditions of the country have changed vastly. The antelope and elk have gone, the wild cattle have been forced into the mountains, and only a few of them remain even there. This is also true of the wild horse. The wild species, however, is not as yet wholly extinct in California. Those now found in this state are, so far as I have been able to learn, confined to the regions of Mount Whitney and Mount Williamson.

There are more than 3,000 articles of various descriptions, that were lost on visitors during the World's fair season, stored away in a room of the old Service building at Jackson park awaiting claimants.

FALSIFYING THE RECORD.

Attempt Made by Smiley and the Gazette to Bismirch Mr. Greenland's Official Record.

Mr. Greenland Did Not Vote Against the Public Square Paving Ordinance.

The Record in the Clerk's Office will show the Record in Favor of That Improvement.

The Smiley-Gazette aggregation have been unable to find anything against Thomas Greenland's private character or public record on which to assail him. The handwriting on the wall shows plainly that he will be elected mayor by a handsome majority. In their desperation they have resorted to false statements and vilification as a method for breaking into his forces. Their charges regarding meetings with and pledges to the saloonists have been conclusively proved to be false, so they have dropped that, and this morning charge that Mr. Greenland voted against the Square paving ordinance, and undertake to make a point against him by accusing him of being opposed to public improvement.

This charge is as destitute of the elements of truth as were those accounts of the alleged meetings. In fact the two charges are parallel—both absolutely and unqualifiedly false.

The following abstract from the official record in the city clerk's office of the council meeting last Monday night will be proof conclusive of Mr. Greenland's vote on the Public Square paving matter.

Should anyone want ocular proof of the matter they may obtain it by consulting the record where the proceedings of the council are kept. This record is accessible to all. It says:

"A motion carried that the 'specifications embodying asphaltum,' as inserted in the ordinance to repave the resolution and ordinance to pave the public square, be stricken out of said ordinance by the following vote: Yeas—Fall, Polcy, Hughes, Jackson, Lawlor, Roberts, Wise and Jones; nays—Butler, Dietrich, Greenland and Spelacy."

That is, Mr. Greenland was one of the four councilmen, who, in the interest of the taxpayers of the entire city, favored receiving bids for both asphaltum and brick, with which to pave the public square. The experience of the council last year with the paving subject showed evidence of a combination between paving brick manufacturers, and the consensus of opinion throughout the city was that bids upon the two kinds of material would militate against a combination of manufacturers to the detriment of the taxpayers of this city.

Therefore Mr. Greenland voted against a proposition to eliminate asphaltum, and desired that both should remain in the specifications. But the motion was lost, notwithstanding the protest of Messrs. Greenland, Butler, Spelacy and Dietrich.

Next came up the ordinance to pave the public square. Upon this subject the council proceedings, as shown by the official record in the clerk's office, read as follows:

Thereupon said ordinance for paving the Public Square with brick, was read the third time. A motion to put said ordinance upon its passage carried by the following vote: Yeas—Fall, Polcy, Greenland, Hughes, Jackson, Lawlor, Roberts, Wise and Jones. Nays, Butler, Dietrich and Spelacy."

Thus it will be seen that Mr. Greenland wished to have both asphaltum and brick included in the specifications and so voted. When that proposition was lost and the question of the passage of the ordinance to pave the Square came up he voted yea on it.

The despicable efforts of the Lima Gazette and J. V. Smiley to distort the public record in order to damage Mr. Greenland in the mayoralty contest demonstrates how desperate they regard Smiley's chances for election to be. They have not yet been able to sustain one charge made against Mr. Greenland. Each one they make has been quickly proved false and they are now left without argument against the Democratic nominee for mayor, and also without any character for veracity for themselves.

Attention, Elks. The following notices were mailed to the members of Lima Lodge No. 162, B. P. O. E.:

"Please be at the B. P. O. E. lodge rooms at 8 o'clock sharp, Thursday morning, to attend the funeral of Bro. Larry O'Neill."

ROUND ABOUT.

Passenger Engineer John H. Moore, of the C. H. & D., and Mrs. Caroline Black, widow of the late Mr. John Black, were married to-day.

A representative of the Condon hotel was in the city to-day and in today's TIMES-DEMOCRAT advertised for teams and shovellers to work on their property on South Main street. They own the property from Main street to Greenlawn avenue and will open up Elizabeth street, plat the property and put it on the market.

One of the maddest men in the city to-day was Dick Stone. Some of the boys of the fire department took his package of smoking tobacco, and after emptying the tobacco out of the sack, filled it up with saw dust. Dick did not discover that the joke had been perpetrated until he had filled his pipe. Of course, John Goebel was blamed for the whole thing.

L. H. Kibby will, on the first of the month, succeed J. H. Woods as cashier of the Ohio National bank.

Chas. East is advanced to assistant cashier and Arthur Feltz goes in as bookkeeper.

The Kenton Republican, in its account of the funeral services of Sir Knight Chas. Cannan, Sunday, says: After the singing of the final hymn, the Rev. Commendatore took charge and the beautifully solemn ritual of the order was read by Rev. Commander G. W. Van Rensselaer, of Lima, and by the Lima prelate, a chant was sung by the quartet, Sir Knights Hughes, Wood, Clark and Calvert, of Lima. At the close of the services the remains were placed in the vestibule and viewed by the many who left the church. Then the procession formed again, and out to his final resting place they carried the remains.

POLITICS.

The Smiley Forces on the Run. Thoroughly Demoralized.

The Clean Campaign Made by the Democratic Candidates "Makes Many Votes."

The Gazette and Smiley are still trying to explain. They can now commence to try and explain why they misrepresented Greenland's vote on the square paving.

The Republicans are breaking away from Smiley in droves. A prominent Republican writes and asks: Will you please tell me where the fellow came from? I wonder if he thinks the Lima people are a lot of chumps to support him after his career in Lima. I know of fifty Republican voters in my ward who will scratch him off and vote for honest Tom Greenland."

He came from Logan county. The first seen of him in Lima was when he chased run-a-way school children down back alleys for playing "hooky."

The word of Smiley and the Lima Gazette does not count for much when compared with statements made by J. J. Lawlor, Thomas Greenland, Thomas Sullivan, Frank Dietrich and others whose reputation for veracity is unquestioned.

There is not one Republican candidate for office who can truthfully say he was ever refused permission to go through the shops of the Lima Machine works when any candidate of the Democratic party was permitted to do so. In fact, during this season dozens of Republican candidates have been granted permission to go into different departments of the shops for the purpose of seeing their constituents.

The statement made by the morning sheet that B. A. Hickey contemplates moving from the blizzard into the sun is without foundation. Mr. Hickey bought a lot in the fourth ward, believing it to be the privilege of a man to invest his money where he sees fit. The lot was bought for an investment, but he has no thought of moving out of the third ward.

J. W. Kemper, the fellow who was such a staunch friend of the dages a few years ago, is the Republican candidate for councilman in the Fifth ward, and it was he who furnished the information that Mr. Lambert, the Democratic candidate for councilman, was about to move into the Fourth. No doubt J. Wesley Kemper would like to see all Americans move out of the ward he lives in and see dages move in so that he would be able to be permitted to represent that ward in the council. It is a sure thing that he will never represent the ward in council so long as there are as many Americans in it as there are now. W. H. Lambert will be the next councilman from the Fifth.

ABUSE

Heaped Upon the Lima Machine Works by the Smiley-Gazette Aggregation.

Trying to Divert Public Sentiment from J. V. Smiley They Try to Sidetrack on Councilmen.

True to their instincts to abuse anything in Lima that is a benefit to the city, the Lima Gazette this morning assailed the Lima Machine Works with a foul article charging that that company is trying to manipulate the election of councilmen for the purpose of securing some favors.

Such an imputation upon the Lima Machine Works is unworthy even so degraded a campaign as the Smiley-Gazette aggregation are carrying on this season. The Lima Machine Works is one of the largest institutions in Lima; it employs hundreds of men in their different departments, and is one of the manufacturing plants that Lima people have always taken pride in referring to. Hundreds of families are supported by the labor employed by its enterprising managers. Yet notwithstanding that it is maligned by a two-by-four sheet in a desperate effort to land in the mayor's office an unworthy candidate. The citizens generally are indignant over the matter, and the result of the abuse will cost the Republican ticket a lot of votes.

John Monahan and Gabriel Starn, agents for the Western and Southern Life Insurance company, fell into a dispute this afternoon on Main street, last night. One word brought on another until they came to blows.

Assistant Superintendent A. O. Buchanan was selected as referee and the fight commenced in a Corbett style. First round—"They spared a few minutes. Monahan led with his right but fell short, and followed it up with his left, catching Starn under the chin with an uppercut.

Starn then made a rush and succeeded in landing on Monahan's proboscis. Then they clinched and hammered each other at close quarters until time was called. Second round—Short but bloody. There were only two blows struck in this round, each getting a punch on the nose which brought the claret. The third and last round was a complete victory for Starn. He made a rush at Monahan, who was not prepared for the attack, and as a consequence he received a blow on the nose and an uppercut, which he threw up the sponge.

The fight was an exciting one while it lasted.

Diphtheria Abating.

From all appearances the disease of diphtheria is again abating, and if no more cases are reported within the next few days, there will not be a case in the city, for the present three patients are without exception, all recovering rapidly, and the health authorities feel greatly encouraged.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon as engineer Chas. Schriver, of the L. E. & W., was backing engine 106 towards the coal dock from the round house, engineer Horn, of the C. & E., was backing up the main track of the latter road with a cut of oil tanks. Engineer Schriver claims that the target was set for blue L. E. & W. until he almost reached the crossing, when the C. & E. engine and cars approached the crossing at a pretty good rate of speed and the target was thrown for the C. & E. Neither engines could stop and in another moment the tank cars were on the crossing and Schriver's engine crashed into them. Three cars were badly wrecked and the L. E. & W. engines tank car in. Both the C. & E. and L. E. & W. wreck trains were called out and the wreck cleared in about two hours.

LACES

Are the Correct Thing, And this is going to be a great lace season, and even now many kinds are becoming scarce in the market.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED An elegant stock in all the leading makes, including

Bourbons, Point Esprit, Appliques, Orientals, Valenciennes, &c.,

No one should fail to see our splendid stock, and purchasers will assuredly pay more for the same goods later in the season, as prices are advancing, owing to short supply.

Fire at Burgoon.

Early this morning the large rolling mills of Messrs. Blackman and Carothers, at Burgoon, a small station about twelve miles from Fremont, on the L. E. & W., were totally destroyed by fire, together with two dwelling houses. The mills were situated near the L. E. & W. track and the wires of the latter company were released by the burning of a telegraph pole.

HOE YOUR OWN ROW.

It is a Profitable Proceeding to Carry Coals to Nowcaste.

There are more ways than one, my son, of carrying coals to Nowcaste, and in almost every case it is a profitable proceeding on the part of the person engaged in it.

Therefore, my son, have nothing to do with that kind of traffic—that is to say, do not encroach upon another's preserves except to admire. Do not attempt to stock them with your own game.

When a man is a salesman in a dry goods store, it is not sufficient to instruct him by the ventilation of ideas of your own. If he be an actor, do not intrude upon him any of your amateur notions. If a clergyman, refrain from Scriptural citation and exegesis when in his company.

If a professional humorist, resist, as it were the evil one, all temptation to facetiousness and parenchyma. If an orator, do not presume to give him points in his calling.

But, on the other hand, my son, do not attempt to interfere with his speaking or his calling, profession or specialty. So long as you listen you make no mistake, and the wing of friendship moths no feather.

Give ear to the story of his experiences at the counter, but intercept none of your own; listen to and applaud his sayings, but do not yourself receive with becoming reverence his interpretations of holy writ, but meddle not yourself with that which the lay mind is not supposed to be able to cope with; listen and laugh at his wit and whimsies, but hazard no joke of your own; attend while he relates his mechanical achievements, but vaunt not yourself in the same line.

It is a common mistake, my son, to suppose that because a man delights in talking about a certain something in which he is proficient, he loves to hear every babble that falls in his way descendant upon the same subject; that because it pleases him to exult himself in a given direction he likes to hear others in the same direction exult themselves.

When a man knows a thing thoroughly—or thinks he does, which amounts to the same so far as he is concerned—he is quite ready and willing to instruct others, but he brooks no intrusions by others which he deems unwelcome. When he has finished the exposition of his views, it is time for you to show up yours, provided of course they are of an entirely different line.

There must be reciprocity in the commerce of conversation, an exchange of
